MARRIED BY MISTAKE.—The S. F Morning Call, of May 10th, tells the following story:

On Sunday last, a party of matrimonially inclined persons got things strangely mixed, in a style that is anything but agreeable, and necessitates an appeal to the Courts to remedy the mistakes of a moment. It appears that two young hearts, yearning to enter into matrimonial copartnership, obtained a license permitting them to consummate their desires, and arranged all the preliminaries for the ceremony to take place in church, down town. On Sunday evening, the party, consisting of the gentle-man, and a friend who was to officiate as attendant, and the lady, and a female friend who was to act as brides. maid, repaired to the church. A is usual in such cases, the parties were very nervous, and hardly knew how to conduct themselves; in fact to this nervousness is attributed all the diffi. culty they have since experienced When the minister called upon them to come forward and take the required oaths, they did so, but by some means which cannot be explained, the bridesmaid took the place of the bride, and the marriage ceremony was completed, and the marriage ring placed up-on her finger, before the mistake was discovered. Here was a pretty dilemma. The parties were legally mar-ried, and the was to be bride left out in the cold. All parties retired from the church in good order, and but few, if any, of those in the congregation were aware of the faux pas, but when they reached flome the reader may be assured that there was no end to feminine tears and masculine curses. But all availed nothing-they had to compromise matters-and yesterday they were consulting a lawyer, who thinks he can induce one of the district Judges to either declare the marriage null and void, or grant them a divorce In the meantime, the marriage between the original parties is indefinitely postponed. PRENTICE ON SUMNER.—The Louisville Journal thus frails the hero of Brooks' rattan for his attack upon Gen. Grant. As the N. Y. World says. what General Lee failed to do, Mr. Charles Sumner, of Masschusetts, has undertaken to accomplish.

"The American people, who believe that the Republic owe something to the soldier who led our armies to final victory over the rebellion, will be edified by the modesty of Massachusetts Senator who, the other day assailed, scrap-book in hand, the honor and veracity of Ulysses S. Grant-

Gen. Grant has seen the South. Mr. Chas. Sumner has never ventured beyond the line of our National bayonets. arrayod for war. Grant defeated the gallant armies which, for four long years, held at bay the whole power of the Union. Sumner was ignominiously thrashed with a cane by a South Carolina representative, long since dead and turned to dust.

The hero of a hundred fights recommends that the Southern people be entrusted with their own affairs. The victim of Mr. Preston Brooks, writhing still with an impotent lust of personal vengeance upon the innocent fellow citizens of a rash and hasty man, whom God has removed from all retribution, shricks out foul mouthed abuse of the President, and clamors for the practical abolition of the Constitution and the Union.

Heaven forbid that we should of. fend common sense and patriotism of the American people with argument in such cases as this. Never were the man and the fanatic brought more sharply face to face than here. Gen. Grant fought to save the Union and the Constitution. Did the heroic Americans who fought under General Grant, and with him, fight to salve the welts and sears scored upon the broad back of Mr. Charles Sumner by a dead Congressman from South Carolina.?"
